

It's Been Said. . .

Choose a dozen (12) people in your life--friends, teachers, parents, parents friends, people who work for your family, etc.--and write a quote the person said about you; or remark made about your habits; or bit of wisdom passed down to you in your family or at school.

Next to each quote write the name of the person who said it. (You do not need a proper name but rather a title such as mom, teacher, friend.)

You do not need to explain anything, the quote should be self-explanatory. Just list.

Example:

It's Been Said. . .

"The best of his Mommy and Daddy." - Mom

"The youngest kid I knew who rooted for a team from another city." - a family friend

"An empty sack cannot stand up; a full sack cannot bend."
- a teacher
